

2018 January 29

Dearest friends and family,

Jodi and I are well.

Jodi is in the process of finishing her first clinical class towards her Nurse Practitioner (Nursing Masters) degree. She completed the clinic portion of this class and is now studying for her final to be taken this Saturday. She has three more terms of clinical classes to be completed through October.

The midterm was very difficult for the whole class. Jodi needs to do well on the final in order to continue in the program. The school is a Christian University so her classmates will all appreciate being lifted up in prayer.

Please pray that Jodi and her class:

- Will know what topics to study
- Remember the information they have learned
- Be able to understand clearly what is being asked in the questions
- Will have an unexplainable peace while they are testing
- Will all pass the class :)

Thank you for praying,

Jay and Jodi
